LC's Autobiography

I am LC I am an incarnation of the mother Goddess, I am a Goddess incarnated on earth, the Cherubim with the power of the flower of life; I am the Cherubim Goddess. I am here to learn what humans know then share the information I have!

Introduction

I have previously written a short autobiography, which only included the years 2015 to 2018, and I have written a blog/post about how my research started so I have decided to merging them and extend the autobiography which goes from my birth until now since I have become a little more open, since I started a blog, but the autobiography will be short because I want to keep most of my life and details about me private for reasons I will mention later on.

The following information will not be revealed for my privacy:

- My full name (Only my middle name will be revealed)
- Age
- (Exact) Locations
- What I look like (Unless you are a personal friend. I have written descriptions of what I look like though.) unless it's a blurred picture.
- Information about my family (Unless you are a personal friend.)

Before reading this I just want to say don't assume stuff about me, some people have assumed stuff about me and they are wrong because they don't even know me personally. I am not schizophrenic, I don't even have the symptoms, and I am not a narcissist, I did 4 tests which all say I am below average on the narcissist scale, I just love myself a lot; My friends and family even agree I am neither.

Personally I don't identify as any gender but I know I am female and I am very feminine so I somewhat identify as female but I don't classify myself as any gender so I am in-between female and agender, I am therefore a genderless feminine person, so I identify as an agender woman.

Something important to mention is my old website links (For 64tge8st and LC's Life) contain "Freemason", I will not explain why, but 64tge8st is not associated with the Freemasons and I am not a Freemason, nor do I work for them or anyone when regarding my personal research. I am only associated with my family (and our lodge Xenplexa), my family's company and my secondary school/university(Xenplexa). And no, not all Freemasons are bad! Also I am followed by a Freemason lodge(Universal Freemasonry) on Instagram and Twitter.

Beliefs

I am from a Jewish family but I don't follow the religion but I am spiritual and I “believe”(because I know its true) in the Kabbalah, it is also the reason why, in my opinion, string theory is the correct theory of everything because string theory and Kabbalah look very similar and can be merged.

I "believe" in a merger/fusion between pandeism, animism and Yahwism, so I pretty much "believe" in Pandeistic animistic Yahwism, I "believe" in Yahwism because its more aligned with my families beliefs and it is also aligned with my "beliefs". The Gods, who are higher dimensional beings, are the souls/consciousness of aspects of reality.

My beliefs:

- String theory: Strings are torus shaped energy and black holes which are ”fuzzballs” are spherical membranes, the strings merge together to form a membrane, and the universe is on a “spherical membrane”.
- All religions contain the truth because all religions evolved out of one religion.
- Also I do not fully believe in astrology.

Name: Sylvia (L)Cherubim

Online I go by my initials LC. My last name (last names normally come from the job your ancestors did, they can also come from places of origin, parentage and physical characteristics.) is pretty much the same job as Cherubim; interestingly me and members of my family have similar birthmarks on our backs which kind of look like wings. For most of my life I've also had weird spiritual experiences where I feel like I actually have wings, they feel like energy wings coming out of my back, I've also had experiences where I feel energy travel up my back like a Kundalini.

Because of this I've become addicted to angels and angelcore which is now one of my aesthetics. I became so addicted that I took a "personality test" to see which angel type I am and I got Cherubim which was interesting. This was the origin of my online name LC/LCherubim/LC Cherubim.

I have decided to reveal my (middle) name Sylvia, so call me Sylvia Cherubim! A nickname people call me irl is Sylv/Silv.

0-10

I LC was born in East Russia to a British Reform Jewish mother and a Russian Reform Jewish father who is descended from a Russian-Hungarian Jewish family and indigenous Russians. I lived in Russia, until I was 10, but did visit the UK every summer and went to a summer school which is where I met my future girlfriend and most of my friends, including Lucy who is actually my second cousin.

I come from a rich family who owns some land and a (private) company which owns shares in some big tech companies. The company mostly works in the scientific field but does fund the secondary school I went to. The Russian side of my family helped build the city that they live in.

A random funny fact about me is I use to sleepwalk around the ages of 5 to 6 and apparently I use to go to the bathroom mirror and stand there looking at myself.

When I lived in Russia I didn't watch much TV so I spent most of my time outside in nature with my (Russian) friends, I also did a lot of gardening, I did gymnastics, I also learned archery, how to use a sword and how to play the piano. Because I spent a lot of time in nature I noticed that nature is full of geometry so I got really interested in geometry and started reading books about maths and physics to learn about the subjects.

One of the nicknames my friends gave me, because I'm flexible, was Octopus(L(name redacted since its my first name) the octopus/Octopus L) because "I'm like an octopus", which I have said myself, so ever since then I've always wanted to be an octopus, honestly I would actually love to be one.

I loved the geometric patterns I saw in nature and the maths behind them and how reality works which got me interested in physics. I am interested in and love physics and the geometry in nature because you could say, I felt like I somehow knew the universe and physics(reality/nature) was based on geometry and I "believed" I wasn't human.

I absolutely hate lying because unfortunately I was pretty much bullied for 10 years for "being weird", believing I am not human and (therefore) because people thought I was lying about many things that I have said, and sometimes the bullying was antisemitic, so I felt terrible, I hated it and lying makes me feel sick. Because of this every time I got home I cried because I thought I was lonely and everyone hated me and, when at school, I didn't trust many people so I didn't have many friends, especially because a lot of people bullied me, so I felt like I wanted to die so I tried committing suicide but luckily I had a few friends, but the majority of them were at summer school, so every time I came back to the UK my future girlfriend helped me, with stuff regarding bullying and suicide, so thanks to her I didn't commit suicide. One thing that never made sense to me was I got a detention because I accidentally poked someone in the eye whilst I was trying to get away from a group of people, who were obviously bullying me, who were surrounding me. So I would never lie. Anyway luckily when I was at secondary school people didn't bully me and from what I could tell the majority of them liked me because I was somewhat popular but I pretty much stayed with the friends I made previously so I didn't interact with other people too much.

My dad always took us to the city library after he got home from work. Because of this we use to have a massive collection of books at home, so we pretty much had a library at home, so I always read them and I even started reading and looking into my family's (Xen) kabbalistic teachings since it was based around geometry, the (Xen) kabbalistic information I have helped me build upon peoples research/information, that I would later on discover, to form my information/research.

I didn't have many toys so if I wasn't doing any of that I was either playing with puzzles, like my rubiks cube or sudoku rubiks cube, or I drew geometries such as the flower of life. I didn't play many video games either, until I moved to the UK, but my mom did have a saga mega drive which she sometimes let us play on.

One of the only "toys" I had was a marble run set, which I loved because there amazing, so I use to make massive ones when I was a kid!

I also use to collect a lot of crystals, rocks and stones that I found outside. I still collect crystals and I still sometimes pick up rocks and stones that I find. I love crystals, rocks and stones!

10-20

When I was 10 I moved to the UK with my mom, sisters and brothers, and I was diagnosed with mosaic turner syndrome, which is the cause of my lazy eye and is therefore the reason I wear glasses. I moved into my mom's house which is next to Lucy's house.

When we moved into the house my bedroom was blue/turquoise and purple, which are two of my favourite colours, and I had purple glow in the dark stars on my ceiling. My bedroom being these colours is probably the reason why I used them for the colour theme of my wiki along with my overall colour theme which is supposed to be pink, purple, blue, turquoise and green. I was sharing my room with my sister(s) but they moved out of my room.

During the first summer I lived in the UK me and my friends met up and had a lot of fun doing many different things including going on holiday together! We went to Fantasy Island which is now my favourite theme park!

Me and my friends also learned how to ice skate which was amazing! I loved ice skating! We also learned how to ride horses and did horse riding which was a lot of fun!

Since I didn't watch much TV until I moved to the UK we also watched a lot more TV. Going into my teens my favourite channels were Jetix, POP Girl, VIVA and AnimeCentral/Showcase TV, all of which are now shut down unfortunately. Another favourite channel of mine was BBC three which is actually coming back this year(2022)!

I still didn't watch too much when I was a teen because I was studying a lot but when I did watch TV it was normally in the morning when I use to watch the old cartoons on Boomerang, or some of the cartoons on Cartoon Network, which we didn't watch much of at the time, or Jetix which was on the majority of the time since my brothers had control over the TV a lot. When my sisters had control over the TV, which was rare, they had Nickelodeon on and it was normally iCarly they watched.

So as I was going into my teens I was watching more cartoons and some anime, but back then I didn't know it was called anime, and I became interested in sci-fi, one of my favourite sci-fi's being the war of the worlds.

Me and one of my friends, who would later become my girlfriend, became really close, we already really liked each other when we met at summer school and eventually we started loving each other a lot and after a while we started "dating" and we became girlfriends.

I started going to the Jewish (primary) school, which ran the summer school, that my friends and girlfriend went to. I am actually still with the majority of these friends today. When I started going to primary school, after moving, I was in year 6 so I was only there for a year and honestly it was really interesting and fun and I wished I could have been there longer because I loved it!

Back in Russia, like many Russians and Russian Jews, my family celebrated Novy God, which is a celebration for New Year but is pretty much a replacement for Christmas which has no ties to any religion, and when we moved to the UK we still decided to celebrate it but we moved it to the 25th of December so we ended up celebrating Christmas, but not for the religious reasons, even though we are Jewish. Personally, since Christmas was originally a holiday to celebrate the winter solstice, I think Christmas, winter solstice and New year should be merged into one holiday so I celebrate Christmas, really Novy God, for the winter solstice and new year and not for the religious reason; And since Hanukkah sometimes takes place on Christmas I use Christmas to open what were supposed to be my Hanukkah presents.

When I turned 12, a year after moving, I went to the Jewish secondary school which the primary school I went to is apart of. When I was at secondary school I started learning programming/coding and found it really interesting. I even played the piano a lot in the music room to the point where I sometimes even played the piano for school bands including the one my girlfriend played in.

Next to my secondary school there is a forest, there was a little part of the forest, with barely any trees, that I found which was close to the entrance of the forest and school, so nearly every lunch time during spring, summer and autumn me and my friends always use to go there to have lunch and talk, we even played games sometimes. I spent most of my time in that part of the forest writing down my knowledge/information/research in notebooks, which is where I kept everything. I still have these notebooks.

As of the week that I'm writing this paragraph, Skype was shut down which is personally a disappointment to me because me and my school friends use to Skype to talk after school so I have a lot of memories on there.

Me and my friends, like most kids at the time, use to go on Andkon, a games website, and Bin Weevils when we were at school but school ended up blocking the websites since we weren't supposed to be going on them at school. Unfortunately Bin Weevils was discontinued and Andkon was flash games so not all of them work anymore.

In secondary school the GCSE's I did were Triple science(Biology, Chemistry and Physics, all separate GCSE grades), Additional Maths, design and technology, music and obviously Maths and English. My spoken English is amazing, apparently I sound very posh, but I unfortunately failed my English GCSE so had to retake it but I still had problems writing sentences but my friends helped me with practising to write. My secondary school had a sixth form/college which is where I studied physics, maths and computer science.

Since I'm half Russian my irl friends, when at school, loved Russia[n culture], for example we loved the Russian/USSR anthem which I mention because one of my friends found an English version and I asked them to send a link so I could download it but my phone started acting weird a few months after because it started playing the Russian/USSR anthem all by its self and eventually one day all the apps crashed on my phone and didn't open so I turned off my phone and turned it back on but it stayed on the logo of the make of the phone. I scanned the phone and fount out that a file that helps turn it on was edited and corrupted at 9:30am so my blackberry phone got a virus and yes I use to have blackberry, as a matter of fact I also had a blackberry tablet as well but around 2014 I switched to Android devices but for one year (2014) I did have one of those weird nokia windows phones.

In 2008 I went to see the movie "WALL-E" in the cinema and honestly since then it has been my favorite movie. Personally I love the older Pixar movies a lot because there nostalgic! I also love them because of how they had to make new mathematical/computational methods to make the movies.

I liked researching physics including theoretical physics. I came across Rob Bryanton(10thdim), who I am now in communication with, who showed some connections between Kabbalah and physics and I came across other people showing these connections, I already noticed the connection between Kabbalah and theoretical physics before because I already knew about Kabbalah because I'm from a Jewish family, who teaches it and the stuff I know, as I've mentioned. I eventually came across Stephen M. Phillips work, which is basically merging Kabbalah and string theory using sacred geometries, in 2009 so I decided to do more research and publish it.

An interesting fact that I found out in 2020 is that Rob Bryanton is the father of Toddy Bryanton who is one of the music creators for ASDF movies!

I use to post on forums including physics forums and last year(2021) I was able to get onto my old google account and access my google notes, which had some of my research and some notes about time travel, and these old forums and therefore some of my old posts and comments about my information/research. Some of my interesting comments I came across regard the simulation hypothesis and I still agree with what I said which is I agree the universe is like a simulation/computer but it is not a simulation, it act likes a giant natural quantum computer that generates the universe as polygons/geometries which join together to form reality which can be seen as molecules which have geometric shapes merging together, these geometries are "computed" within a consciousness. Recently Quantum Gravity Research published a paper which I agree with, because it matches with my information/research and what I believe/know, which is "The universe simulated itself into existence".

Anyway as mentioned I use to post small pieces of some of my information/research on forums, under my initials LC, and I have been able to access some of it but unfortunately most of it is deleted for reasons which I will explain later.

When I was 17 I wouldn't say I was crazy, maybe I was, but I did do something crazy because I dyed my hair a blue colour and I got nipple piercings and a piercing somewhere else. This was because of my gf but I didn't mind it since I did like it. That was the only time I dyed my hair plus I obviously no longer have the piercings. Also talking about my hair, I did go bald once when I was younger but I'm not saying anything more.

Eventually I would go to university and study physics. When I went to university I was also able to get a job working at my family's company where I helped out.

When I moved to the UK I pretty much became addicted to tea which I always had, I've now become extremely addicted to green tea and flavoured green teas which I love! So most of the time I just drink green tea! Also talking about tea lets talk about coffee. I don't like coffee much at all but I use to make it and try it every now and then for my friends when they had it when they came around in the morning before school.

Around the late 2000's I love the Nintendo Wii and DS which I always use to play. I ended up having 5 or 6 DS, including the original, but all of them except my 3DS, which I still use and am planning on hacking, are gone.

If you personally know me you know I am always very "horny", its pretty much become a joke now, anyway I became really interested in and started loving (and doing) sexual/nude spiritual art. Also talking about this, I may as well get it out of the way, I have had sex when I was under age but I will not talk about this. Also as you know I love crystals and if you read my blog you will have seen I have mentioned "crystal dildos", literally dildos made out of crystal, and how they are one of my favourite things, we also won't talk about that, LOL!

My family arranged a marriage for me but I declined it because I wanted to marry my girlfriend, who I was already planning a wedding with, but we didn't know when we would get married since it wasn't legal at the time here in the UK. My family accepted our decline and I am actually friends with the person they wanted me to marry. Unfortunately I would never marry my girlfriend…

The attack and my recovery

This was the hardest part of my life so I won't talk much about the attack because honestly I hate remembering what happened plus I can't mention much about it due to privacy reasons and I will not be going into full detail as to what happened but I will go over some of my recovery and what happened after. I have accepted what happened and I am over it and accepted she died, I did this by becoming more spiritual and remembering what she told me.

On the 1st of May 2012 me and my girlfriend were going out to meet up with our friends. But as we were on our way to the meet up place we were stopped and attacked by a group of people who hate my family due to the company we own. They stabbed both of us multiple times with swords attempting to kill us. The attack stopped after our friends arrived but unfortunately they were too late because we were both very badly injured and close to death. I unfortunately have no memories of what happened after because we had both passed out due to how much blood we lost but we were both rushed to the hospital.

I had a lot of surgery over the next week (I had other surgerys over the next month as well) so I was mostly asleep for a week, after the week of surgery I found out that my girlfriend passed away and that we both contracted a virus from the attack, the virus along with her injuries caused her death. The virus attacks and kills all cells, it spread through half of my body and caused a lot of damage, and unfortunately I still have it but I do have medication which stops it from multiplying. Unfortunately this is the reason why my immune system is "weird" because some days my immune system is strong and some days it is weak which is why I am prone to getting infections.

After hearing all this news I became really depressed and even attempted committing suicide because I felt like dying, again, and I wished I was the one who died, luckily the attempted suicide failed. I had previously thought about and attempted suicide due to all the bullying, which made me feel lonely, that I went through when I was at school but luckily my girlfriend stopped me from attempting it by being here for me.

I was, unfortunately, in a wheelchair for a while but luckily I was able to fully walk again after a few months.

Because of this and along with the fact I wasn't looking after myself properly I was put under a guardianship and was moved to a house, which was kind of like a personal hospital, where I lived for a few months and where my friends helped look after me. Honestly the place I moved to for a few months was amazing, I loved it there.

I use to go to the hospital once every month before 2020. I haven’t been since but my friend, Shana, who is kind of like my maid/guard, checks up on me once every month and sends the information to the hospital.

Eventually I accepted what happened, after I read a letter she wrote for me where she said be and feel "amazingly amazing", but even though I accepted it I had a lot of work to do to get better which was very hard. I had actually become overweight plus I was pretty much only drinking coca cola for 2 to 3 years so one of my teeth had to be taken out due to rotting. I eventually got back into exercising for 1 hour every day and started getting really healthy again. As I started getting better I started loving and understanding myself a lot.

After I was feeling much better, me and my friends, who became my guardians, moved into a house that my family was having built a few years before, and some of my family (Brothers and Sisters) visit every weekend.

The only problem I have now is that I am still somewhat sad. My sadness stems from me feeling lonely, wanting a relationship and wanting to be loved because no one understands me and I want to be understood again and I just want to be loved and to have a relationship because I feel lonely, the only person who understood me was my girlfriend. I know a lot of people love me but honestly I just want a partner who I can love and who can love me back. I'm not going to lie but I use to find seeing people in relationships hard because it was something I want. I also honestly fear losing someone I love again, if someone I love hasn't responded to me for days it really worries me and upsets me. I've had this sadness since her death in 2012 but it is no longer as bad as it use to be and I am still trying to heal. I am honestly doing infinitely better but I am still working on things.

I also became very defensive because I don't want anything bad, like what happened to me, to happen to the people I love or anyone. I've become so defensive that I even threaten people, who I call "evil", who harm/hurt my friends. In the worse cases I threaten to kill people, which I know I shouldn't do plus I don't actually want to kill anyone, anyway most of the time I just jokingly threaten to eat people. Its like I have a split personality when I become defensive because I go from being extremely excited, probably slightly insane (Joke)(Since I say some insane things which logically make no sense which makes me look dumb but I'm not.), happy, funny (my opinion), full of life, very kind and loving to more serious, extremely insane, angry and threatening people. Seriously though, I don't have a split personality, this is just the way people are but I say some insane things when angry.

2012-2015

One of the main reasons I always feel "amazingly amazing" is probably because I'm pretty much high, all the time, because of the medication I have to take. The other main reason is because I'm just happy about my life now because honestly my life is mostly amazing most of the time.

During this period I finally found out what anime was, I had watched anime prior to this but didn’t know it was anime and I didn’t know what anime was, so I started watching a lot of it since I didn't know what to do after what happened. I even found a song called "Reboot" by JimmythumbP, which really resonated with me (due to the video) and still does, it is the only song that can make me cry.

Also talking about anime and music, I honestly don’t know what my favorite anime is but I usually say “Genesis of Aquarion” but I have a few anime which I absolutely love such as “Heavens lost property” and “Yuki Yuna is a Hero”. As for music, I don't like most modern music, especially from western countries, but I love anime openings, J-pop and vocaloid; Also I don’t know what my favorite song is either but I usually say “Egao no Kimi e” which is one of the openings to “Yuki Yuna is a Hero”.

Talking about “Yuki Yuna is a Hero”, I pretty much became addicted to it after watching it in 2015 and two of my favorite characters from the series are Nogi Sonoko, who I love and became addicted to (LOL!), and Tougou Mimori.

Anyway because I was at hospital I use to watch the very small TV that was at my bed but the only channels that were avalibe on it were freeview channels so I didn't have much to watch but I came across the channels CBBC and CITV so I watched them most of the time during the day when ever I was awake. This is how I came across the shows "The Sparticle Mystery" and "Gormiti" (which was based on a toy series which I already knew about but I hadn't watched the show up until then) which have spiritual/mysticism symbolism. I also want to watch south park, on VIVA, at night times like I always did but unfortunately I never got to since I wasn't awake. This led to me getting a freeview TV for my bedroom once I left hospital.

Since I mentioned my favorite anime and now I have just talked about TV, I may as well mention my favorite TV show but honestly I very rarely watch TV anymore, since everything is pretty much watched online, and since anime technically aired on TV I would say my favorite TV show is my favorite anime but if I were to mention a favorite TV show I would probably say Monster Buster Club even though I am an adult now and it is for children. This is probably because Monster Buster Club is probably, what people would call, a comfort show and honestly it is really fucking nostalgic to me so it takes me back to a time which was simple.

In 2013 I came across Yu Gi Oh when Yu Gi Oh Zexal, which is personally my favorite Yu Gi Oh series, began airing here in the UK. This led to me collecting Yu Gi Oh cards between 2013-14 and 2017 and over that time period I collected (probably) over a thousand cards, most of which I got for Christmas.

Also around this time in 2012/2013 I came across spirit science through the human history movie which was helpful for my research.

I love cats and use to have one but unfortunately it went missing around 2013, I would love to have a cat again but unfortunately I can't because I now have budgies. I also use to have an axolotl but unfortunately it died. Also I have two snakes back in Russia which my family look after. I love lizards/reptiles! I love reptiles so much that I have a big sequin snake teddy on my bed and I use to want to be something like a lamia, a half human half snake, which is one of the reasons why "Reptilian" was in my discord names.

When I wasn't looking after myself I pretty much only drank coca cola but eventually I stopped drinking it so much, as I mentioned, and because of that I got addicted to flavoured water and later on green tea. I don't drink coca cola anymore but I do drink pepsi max every now and then. The soda I drink the most though is KA black grape which is personally my favorite soda and flavor of KA.

Even though my house was built pretty recently, I'm pretty sure it is haunted and I wouldn't be surprised it is because the house that use to be here and the surrounding houses are at least 60+ years old.

Before 2012 I use to be quite public on the internet but after the attack I became very private and nearly all of the stuff I had on the internet was deleted but by 2015 I had pretty much fully recovered so I started opening up again and started posting my research on the internet without revealing any information about me until late 2017.

20-Present day

Unfortunately my twenties up until now would be very different from what I wanted.

If you know me I spend most of my time in my head imagining stuff, usually geometry, maths and physics, and because of that I sometimes have weird thoughts which I use to always say out loud because they are funny. The stuff I sometimes say is so weird that one of my online friends said I say "weird cryptic stuff", these thoughts would probably make people see me as "crazy". I no longer say these thoughts out randomly all the time so you could say I have become less "crazy". I also talk to myself a lot, I have done it so much that I talk in third person sometimes. Because I threaten "evil" people and I normally never threaten people it became sort of a joke that I have two personalities and that I talk to my other personality. I obviously don't have two personalities though.

Since I stopped posting on the internet and I stopped writing much overall my written english got bad again but luckily it started getting good again because my (online) friends helped me.

2015-2020

As mentioned in 2015 I started posting on the internet again, I created a new Youtube/Google account called "Dimensional Consciousness" where I started creating and publishing videos about my knowledge/information/research.

I use to have Facebook and LinkedIn but, as mentioned, I deleted them when I deleted all my accounts but I deleted them much later, in 2016. I became inactive on Facebook but still played Facebook games but I eventually stopped playing them. As for LinkedIn, I obviously didn't need to use it since I work for my family's company.

In 2016 I came across a wikipedia about quantum physics and sacred geometry owned and ran by Kyle, who I call my human twin because he has the same(similar) first name and same birth month and day as me. I started publishing some of my knowledge/information/research on this wikipedia using my own account, which is an old fandom account, which I can no longer access because I forgot the password and can't change it since the account uses my old Google/Gmail account which I also no longer have access to, so Kyle gave me there fandom account, so I could create the Xen Qabbalah wiki a few years later, since they pretty much stopped using there fandom account because of what happened next.

In late 2016 I created a test website about the sacred geometry of 108 which I eventually deleted and then created the website 64 tetrahedron grid E8 string theory on January 7th 2017 with my friend Kyle, we mostly reshared Stephen M Phillips work on the website at first and started slowly releasing my knowledge/information/research, I had to get permission from family to publish there (Xen) kabbalistic teachings.

The number 1133 is very important to me, it has become so important to me that it is now in my internet names. This is because, interestingly, around the end of 2016 I started seeing the number 1133 and up until now I have been seeing the number a lot. Maybe 1133 is/was a sign for my future research, a sign for the research that was to come. 1133 has some amazing properties! Also I would later find out that 1133 is an important number in KS which is interesting.

Around mid 2017 we deleted the quantum physics and sacred geometry wiki and then in 2018 we created the Xen Qabbalah wiki. My best friend Lucy in 2017 decided to make a website to publish information about ancient Atlantis history and angels which I helped her with, that website is now deleted because she now helps write some of the history/information posts on the Xen Qabbalah wiki.

I had finished university and I started a full time job working for my family's company in a lab. I can't say much about my job due to my contract but I am basically a scientist who creates/designs technology for/and experiments to try and prove theoretical physics, that's just a basic explanation for my job.

From 2014 until about 2017 I played the online game “Game of war age of fire” and and I got into the top 400 most powerfull empires back then but I stopped playing the game because it costed a lot of money plus it took ages to get more resorches and stuff. Another reason I stopped playing was because honestly the game got way too complex. If I remember my name on the game was something like “Gods eye” or “Gods90xy” or something similar.

I started using Google+(G+) and created two groups to share my information/research posts from my website. In late 2017 I created a personal G+ account, which would later become my main account, where I posted random events from my life. A year later Google announced they were closing G+ so I moved to Discord, MeWe, Instagram and Twitter. I mainly became active on MeWe, where I recreated the two groups, Discord and Instagram.

Also in late 2017, about a month before I created my personal G+ account, I joined Discord when my friends told me about it. After Google announced the closure of G+, me and some of my online friends from G+ also moved to Discord where we had a Discord server. On the 30th of November 2018 I created a discord server which was originally for my knowledge/information/research but I decided to expand it so my online friends could join, this expansion was actually quite useful because within the next two months I would create my blog "LC's Life" and I thought "Why not use it so people can join from my blog and get to know me".

Also during 2017 Gabriel Lyrio, the creator of light is consciousness on Instagram, tried contacting me on Youtube so I sent a message on Google Hangouts to chat there but he didn't get back to me until mid 2019, which was around the time I stopped using Hangouts due to G+ not being used anymore. So I responded saying I use Discord, MeWe, Instagram and Twitter, I had forgotten he ran the light is consciousness instagram page, which I had already followed a year before, and I remembered months later, during december, after I responded that he was on Instagram so I sent my private Instagram since I only had that Instagram at the time and on Christmas day 2019 during the night I got a follow request from light is consciousness which was honestly an amazing Christmas present!

In 2017 tengri 137 revealed $\pi 7/\pi^7$ which I have been releasing research about since 2017, which is probably how Robert Edward Grant came across the equation since he works with Gabriel Lyrio, and as a matter of fact my first post on my research website, which was on January 7th, was about π. Also a spiritual account on Twitter, which no longer exists, posted about how $\pi 7/\pi^7$ and the mathematical patterns of tengri 137 are (probably) the same maths encoded in the bible and I strongly agree because I have revealed how $\pi 7/\pi^7$ is related to 37|73 the kabbalistic maths encoded in the bible; In addition to this I realized $1/\pi^7 \approx 1/3020 \approx 0.0003311$ which is very interesting! Anyway in 2019 I asked SandiaWisdom, on Twitter, if they know (anything) about tengri 137 but unfortunately I got no response but tengri 137 did like that tweet which was amazing! I seriously suggesting people look into tengri 137 since they are amazing!

Around the end of 2018 I started dating again. I hadn't dated since 2012 and I hadn't had a proper relationship since 2012, I found it hard getting into relationships. Unfortunately all my relationships up until 2019 failed. I did have a boyfriend for a few months around mid 2019 but we broke up, he recontacted me in 2022 but we didn't talk much. I then had girlfriend from August 2019 to February 2020 but unfortunately that relationship ended because she was hiding stuff from me, wouldn't answer my questions and blocked me. I also had a boyfriend from October 31st 2019 to December 24th 2021 which was the longest relationship I had since my first girlfriend, unfortunately that relationship ended as I will mention later. I haven't mentioned this yet, on the autobiography, but I am polyamorous.

As mentioned in 2019 I created my blog "LC's Life" which is basically a log/diary where I post random and important things, such as updates on my research, from my "crazy life" and show "my adventure into the future in helping the human race evolve and advance by showing them how the universe works", I created it to "release all my emotions which most of the time is 'amazingly amazing'... to make people feel happy" and "so people can have fun reading it". "I reveal the bad stuff about my life not just the good to make people think I have a better life because I don't have a better life", but surprisingly nothing bad really happens, probably because I try to keep my life "amazingly amazing", "I just want to show my life as it is and make people happy and have fun!". I don't know if anyone has fun reading my blog but I hope people do, the blog doesn't really get any views at the moment but I don't really care about the views because it's just a diary for random stuff.

In 2019, to make it a lot more simple, I created a "book" on Wattpad about my knowledge/information/research AKA Xen Qabbalah, it was basically pages from my wiki which I arranged in order to build up the knowledge so people could understand my research. I also started writing a book with my now ex-boyfriend, Gudjencio, and unfortunately we didn't really finish it.

Even though I hate some discord bots, because they are annoying, I created a discord bot for my server, which has commands which gives you descriptions of certain things in my knowledge/information/research. The bot is no longer used and it was never really used in the first place, it's still up though. Making the discord bot was hard and I think it took a week to make it, if I remember, I used a youtube playlist to help create the bot.

My first name (L) has an English origin but can also have a Hebrew origin and my online friends have repeatedly tried to guess it but no one has ever guessed it correctly because my name is rare/very uncommon but one person, in 2019, guessed really close to it so they think that's my name but I will never actually reveal my name, LOL! Since people tried to repeatedly guess it I decided to reveal my middle name(Sylvia) which I sometimes go by in real life since (some of) my friends call me it since most people can't actually pronounce my first name except for my family and close friends who actually use my middle name when we're with my friends who can't pronounce my first name.

In December 2019 one of my online friends was being bullied by someone called Lynn who was faking someone's death so I kept reporting her posts and kept getting them and her Instagram accounts taken down. Lynn also, apparently, faked her suicide multiple times but eventually she actually proved she did attempt it and I apologized to her. Because of this I also came across a troll called "Lizzy" who repeatedly kept attacking me and even leaked some of my private information but I got the information taken down and eventually the troll stopped attacking me.

Me vs KS

In 2018 when I created my wiki I was doing research and came across "keylontic science"(KS) through an article about the "daisy of death", I knew KS and this article was horribly wrong because something felt off when I saw it and I was correct! I knew the geometries in KS, such as the 12 tree grid", and the flower of life, which this article called the "daisy of death", were the exact same geometry in 3D. I came across two websites which noticed they were the same geometry so I reshared them along with my thoughts, this lead to two accounts on twitter finding my wiki and attacking it which I found out about on the 7th of December 2018, which lead me to creating a discussion on my wiki about it in 2019.

In late October 2019 the "Kathara grid"(12 tree grid) page on my wiki was removed for "copyright" reasons, which I assume was because of the two accounts reporting it. This led me to create the original "debunking KS" diagram, to show how KS is based on false information, in 2020 which I can't use now due to "copyright" reasons as well.

After the original diagram had to be taken down I pretty much gave up trying to debunk KS because I didn't want my work to be attacked anymore so back then I made my final comments on KS.

But later on after Gabriel Lyrio created a debunking KS page on Instagram and "Awakened consciousness collective", who now follows me because of my work, used the original debunking KS diagram in their live/video, I decided to go back to debunking KS.

Eventually, in 2021, I came across Knew Spirituality/Knew Geometry who also noticed they were the same geometry, I was finally not the only one mentioning it! Also during this time I was revealing how the hexaflor/fibonacci spiral formed the 3D expanded 13 sephirot tree of life. This all led me to create a new debunking KS diagram which luckily hasn't been attacked yet and surprisingly my work is no longer being attacked from what I can see. I have also created a new discussion exposing KS and the person who first published it.

I honestly don't know why people were attacking my work which was exposing the truth, I assume it's because they don't want to accept they were lied to so they decide that I am wrong just so they can keep believing their right. There is also the fact that the KS community has even tried copyrighting their geometry even though they claim their geometry forms the universe meaning they logically should not be able to copyright it. I've also heard the community has had some sort of "split" and that they are "fighting" due to problems relating to the person who first published KS from what I've seen.

I also found it weird they are using a geometry based all around binary because it seemed more like they are trying to trap consciousness in a matrix/simulation.

KS=Appropriating Kabbalah

One of the reasons I knew KS was horribly wrong is because I'm Jewish and therefore already know quite a bit about the Kabbalah, especially since I studied it, which says the tree of life isn't just 10 sephirot, there is also Da'at and Ein Sof which takes it up to 12 points like in KS which shows the KS community doesn't know much about Kabbalah because they demonized it because "it only has 10 spheres(sephirot) and the original tree of life has 12". I personally don't mind the occult/mysticism/esoteric/spiritual community using the Kabbalah, especially if the people using it are Jewish, but the exception is the KS community, who I hate because of what they did, because:

1. They demonized Kabbalah and said it's all wrong and
2. then they used the Kabbalah to create there own version of it (called KS), which is pretty much appropriating Kabbalah, and they then copyrighted KS, even though they call it 'freedom teachings' and say its the design of the universe, and make money off of it.

This is the reason I'm so against KS because they are wrong and appropriating my people's teachings to make there own.

2020-Present day

Now 2020,a complex year for many obvious reasons. Before 2020 me and my friends use to always go out on trips but unfortunately that had to stop in march 2020 due to the covid pandemic, I still find it weird that it started quite close to a virology lab and the CCP tried covering up things, I still think that it leaked from the lab.

Anyway in 2020 due to the pandemic I created an instagram account for 64 tetrahedron grid E8 string theory (64tge8st), which is run by me, on the 11th of April. Robert Edward Grant, who for some unknown reason blocked me on my personal private Instagram account, started following 64tge8st which was nice. Quantum Gravity Research also started following 64tge8st and they also followed my personal private account but later unfollowed. So I thought these were some amazing achievements for me!

I am now in contact with Antony Canosa who contacted me, after I made my Instagram account 64tge8st, since Gabriel Lyrio showed him my website and he learned from my research. He said I am probably one of the smartest people he knows on the internet. Antony Canosa wanted to show me his book since it talks about similar topics and I thank him for showing his book to me, I loved it! The ideas in his book, the spiral in nature, are the exact same ideas I came up with in my knowledge/information/research! He also said that in the future he wants us to work together, so in the future we might be making something.

Also talking about my information/research and its connection to Antony Canosa's work, I have a good way of explaining the string theory that I think is the correct string theory: "Strings are torus shaped energy and black holes which are 'fuzzballs' are spherical membranes, the strings merge together to form a membrane, and the universe is on a 'spherical membrane'."

I am pretty sure I have literally had dreams of the future, I have had dreams and I am pretty sure the exact events and everything in the dream down to the exact details happened to me later on in real life. Why am I bringing up dreams? Because I get some of my information from dreams and one recent massive example of this was the hexaflor. In about February 2020 I had a dream about a fibonacci spiral forming a star tetrahedron and in late 2020, if I remember, I started looking into the hexaflor and noticed its strong connection to the dream I just mentioned and ever since then I have been working with the hexaflor. My dreams are really weird and interesting, which makes sense for me, so I am very interested in dreams to the point where I have a dream diary.

I am a left-libertarian and I am not American BUT I did support (what) Trump (did). Why did I support (what) Trump (did)? Because I did not believe what the media said about him plus he was taking down the elite. In addition to this, the media lies about socialism/the left, the elite created communism, a corrupted form of socialism, to demonize the left, through the media, because socialism is human nature. The democrats/liberals are not on the left side of politics, even though they claim to be, because they support capitalism therefore both parties(Democrat/(")Left(") and Republican/Right) are the same party (wings of the same bird) which limits(/stops) (the expansion of) democracy and takes our rights/freedoms away. This shows that politics was created to divide people so if you say your side won then you are wrong because the media, big tech and elite won. Also China runs on the same system because it is a (fake) communist country running on a form of a capitalist system. This system is scarily similar to the Nazi party which started off "socialist"/said it was "socialist" but was capitalist/far-right. Anyway I am technically not a Trump supporter since I only supported him taking down the elite and since I didn't fully support him plus I don't really support anyone, I can't really support him since I am in the UK and, as mentioned, I am a left-libertarian also I agree he does say stupid stuff sometimes. Also no I don't believe conspiracy theories, I do my research and what I know is fact, so if you want to keep believing what the media says about Trump then don't do your research, believe what you want, be apart of the problem and don't accept the truth; But I seriously suggest you do your research, especially into Qanon which has unfortunately been extremely censored which was the reason I joined Parler but since Parler was censored(taken down) after January 6th I no longer use it.

2021

In the last few hours of December 31st 2020 and into the first few hours of January 1st 2021 I thought it would be fun to try and access my old Google/Youtube account which I hadn't used since 2015. I created the account when I was in secondary school so it is a very old account and it was quite easy to log into, due to the password being my name followed by the number 6. When I got into it I decided to have a look around it and honestly I use to watch some weird stuff which isn't a surprise since I'm a weird posh girl. On the Youtube channel there were videos of me and my friends that we had uploaded, I deleted them along with most of the stuff on the channel. Anyway through the account I was able to access some of my research, I posted on forums, and notes I had written which was amazing to look at! I even found some weird notes attached to dates, the notes told the future me to time travel to the past me. Anyway it was fun looking at all my weird old stuff, unfortunately I can no longer access the account again because I need to verify that its me accessing it and the only way to do that is through an older email or phone number which don't belong to me and unfortunately belong to someone who passed away years ago now.

During 2021 I became more openly Jewish because I had had enough of the antisemitism I was seeing. I had already revealed I was from a Jewish family way before I became more open but I decided to open up more and fight the antisemitism, especially the antisemitic conspiracy theories which I debunked in a 9 page PDF, I wrote in late 2022, by showing they were created, spread and supported by the elite. In January 2023 I used the PDF as a basis for a diagram showing the elite are antisemitic and the antisemitism gets increasingly worse as you go up the pyramid of the elite.

Back in 2018 when I moved to Twitter I made an account and I don’t remember what exactly happened but it got suspended, even though at the time I literally just created it, but it was still up anyway due to this I made the Twitter account I am currently using. In 2021 I tried gaining access to my unused suspended Twitter account and was able to get back into it and un-suspend it. So after I got back into it I turned it into an account for 64tge8st so as of 2021 there is now a Twitter account for 64tge8st, which is run by me and Kyle.

In the last few days of 2021 I created a new personal Instagram account, which isn’t private, so people who want to follow my private account, because they want to get to know me, can follow me on a non private account.

Unfortunate end

The last week of 2021 wasn’t easy for me because on the 24th of December me and my, now ex, boyfriend Gudjencio ended our 2 year relationship. I was always there for him and always worried about him and his health, especially when he would stop talking to me for long periods of time, but I still somehow ended up hurting him, apparently, and I was really sorry for that. I didn't want to hurt him and I didn't mean to, I hate hurting people.

After we broke up we were working things out and working on things and moved on. He apparently understood me and said I need to understand myself, which I didn't need to because I already understand myself, and fix my problems but he barely talked to me before and after the break up and he obviously didn't understand me because my problem was the fact I was lonely and that I wanted someone to understand me, not that I needed to understand myself, and he wasn't there for me, even though he said he wouldn't leave me, when I needed him. He kept repeating himself because I didn't know what to do because honestly he was confusing me, especially when he said I need to understand myself; He wanted me to change but I couldn't because I already understand myself.

Also before I broke up with him, he wasn’t talking to me much but from what I saw he was talking to another girl, who I am in communication with, more because they share each others stuff a lot. He also told me not to leave because leaving wouldn't fix the problem yet he stopped talking to me often and later on, in March 2022, he went and left me by blocking me because I started dating someone else and he even went and said I fix my problems by having sex, which is horribly wrong.

As mentioned I was feeling lonely and I had moved on so I decided to date Lloyd, who I have known since secondary school, so my ex decided to block me because I started dating Lloyd, If he actually understood me he wouldn't have blocked me. The fact my ex didn't understand me and he then went and blocked me, hurt me; But I probably deserved getting hurt because I hurt him and honestly remembering what he did still hurts me even though I have moved on from him. I thought we both still loved each other and that he wanted me to be happy and wanted to fix things but I guess not.

So I decided I would make mine and Lloyd's relationship official after my ex blocked me. Also I honestly wanted to forget about my ex and remove him from my life for a few months before he blocked me because it hurt that he didn't understand and stopped talking to me, so now I see it as a good thing that he is removed from my life, also I ended up blocked him on all other social medias as a response and to show I was removing him entirely.

2022

In 2022 I decided I would no longer date online due to what happened. I wasn't really interested in anyone in real life, up until now, plus I didn't know if anyone was interested in me, until I went online and found out a lot of people really like me, because no one has ever asked me out in real life due to the fact that I had a girlfriend most of the time and then I stayed in most of the time after she died and after I fully recovered.

After my previous relationship I started to prefer dating black men and my friends obviously knew this so they persuaded me to invite Lloyd, one of my friends brothers, around because we hadn't talked for two years, due to the pandemic, and because we somewhat liked each other ever since we were at secondary school. He asked me out on a date but wanted to take it slow, due to what was happening with my ex, until I was ready; We went on a few dates for a few weeks and when my ex blocked me we decided to make our relationship official. Because we are both busy at work during the week we decided he will stay at my place during the weekend so we can spend more time together. I am finally happy again because I'm in a relationship where we are both there for each other, where we both love each other and where we are trying to understand each other.

There isn't really much to say about this, especially since I now publicly identify with my Jewish ethnicity more rather than my half Russian identity, but in 2022 Russia invaded Ukraine and I do not agree with the war and as a matter of fact I don't side/agree with either side because I don't agree with Russia starting a war and invading but I also don't agree with Ukraine joining NATO because organizations like NATO, such as the UN, can not be trusted based on what I've seen the UN do. Anyway there isn't much to add to this other than the war did upset me and I did not like seeing the news regarding it.

Jetix was one of the only channels I watched after I moved to the UK so I became attached to it because I loved some of the shows, there is specifically one show that I really loved which is "Monster Buster Club"(MBC) and honestly I don't know why I love it but I just did. A few years later, in 2012, after the rebranding/closure of Jetix I wanted to rewatch MBC and I easily found it on Youtube where I watched all of season 1, I don't remember if season 2 was on Youtube though.

Then a few years later I wanted to rewatch it again but was unable to find all of season 2 because the episodes weren't on youtube and if they were then they were split up into multiple videos and weren't named properly. This made me search for it online but when I did find it online there were multiple episodes from season 2 missing so I was unable to watch all of season 2 and honestly I thought it was completely lost so I was thinking about contacting the lost media community but luckily I didn't because in december 2020 I was finally able to find all of season 1 and 2 of MBC on Amazon prime where it had apparently been added in October 2020 which was months after my original search for season 2 and in 2022 I found it again and officially rewatched all of MBC.

This is one of the reason I got into lost media. It is also one of the reasons I helped my friend Kyle with his Jetix website, the other reason is because he got me back into Jetix.

2023

"Heavens lost property", which as previously mentioned is one of my favorite anime, was one of the first anime I watched, knowing it was anime, and after nearly 12 years I have finally finished watching it. The reason it took so long to watch was because the final movie, which literally came out nearly 10 years ago, was only dubbed recently and I knew the movie was going to be bad because the last 3 episodes of season 2, the first movie and the second (final) movie changed the story and messed it up, which I knew even though I hadn't finished the manga at the time I watched it because I knew the basics of how the manga ended, because I watched a YouTube series about how the anime is amazing but the ending was terrible.

And honestly I wish I never watched the final movie because (wow) they ruined it and it was fucking terrible, there is no words for how much they ruined it, how terrible it is and how much I fucking hate that ending except for I continued reading the manga, which I did start reading in 2019, but never continued reading, and which I was only reading because of said YouTube series because I wanted to see the actual ending; And now that I have finished the manga and anime I can say the manga ending was fucking perfection, it was way better than the anime ending which was so bad, in comparison, that I'm just going to pretend that it doesn't exist, that I never watched it and waisted 50 minutes of my life and I can also still say the anime and manga was fucking amazing and I seriously still love it so much!

For Christmas 2022 one of my presents, which wasn't completed until February 2023, was a computer room, which use to be a storage room in our house but we started moving all of the stuff out of it and into the loft/attic, my friends and bf were setting up. Most of my presents for that Christmas were things my friends brought me for the computer room; One of them being a Fire TV which I am also using as my computer screen. The reason they did this is because we needed more space in the house because of what happened next.

Engagement

On the 14th of February, Lloyd asked me to marry him and I said yes because of all the support he gave me, which I honestly needed, and because of how amazing he has been over the past year! He said he wanted to ask on our 1 year anniversary but he decided to do it on Valentines. When he asked I was literally going mental in my head because of how happy I was, LOL! Anyway I am now united with my partner. This led to Lloyd moving into my house during Easter, which took a lot of planning.

I may as well state this here but, now that I am engaged (this paragraph was written in October 2025 so after I was married) I may as well state that yes I am pansexual demisexual (and because of that I fell in love with multiple people and became) polyamorous BUT in my relationship with Lloyd, Lloyd is not poly and does not want a poly relationship so I will be only having one partner so don't think I'll be in any type of relationship with anyone [else].

Ending my research

For the past two years I haven't been researching much, but I still did quite a bit, since life has been really busy. I love to research and would love to get back into it but I just don't feel like I can (fully), I want to do it but I also feel like I don't want to and that I want to move on from it so in March I decided I would planned on moving on from my personal researching since I just want to live life. But I did decide to still create some content every now and then but honestly I won't be posting much ever again so it's most likely going to be rare to see me post. Anyway I do want to thank everyone who has looked at my research over the past 6 years, I love you all and I hope you all stay amazing and continue your amazing research!

October the 7th and leaving Twitter.

After a week I finally make a response to what happened in Israel on October 7th: I seriously never expected that I would have to write this response, or another one like it, and honestly I didn't write it for a week, but I was talking about it in my blogs and on my Instagram stories (which I then shared to Discord and MeWe), because I didn't know what to say; Especially since I was angry that it happened, that Hamas, an offshoot of the Muslim Brotherhood who were funded by Nazi Germany, literally committed genocide yet no one was talking about that, instead they start talking about it when Israel responds by saying what Israel is doing is wrong and that the Palestinians are being genocided which isn't true, that people have also been denying it and support them and the whole thing just made me upset.

So my questions for them is what do you want Israel to do? Not respond and let Hamas attempt the real genocide of us Jews? If so then you are a fucking Nazi; Also if you care about Palestinians and say free Palestine why don't you saying free Palestine from Hamas?

Because of this my mood, for the week after the 7th, wasn't good, but I tried to feel amazingly amazing like I always do, anyway I'm feeling much better now, after not looking at the news much and writing debunkings, but unfortunately avoiding most of the news was impossible since nearly everyone I know irl is Jewish; The exact same thing happened last year with Russia and Ukraine since I'm half Russian Jewish, but that didn't hurt as much, and back then I said I don't agree with war and I normally don't but if it is against genocidal Nazi terrorists who have literally been saying they want to kill all of us Jews, which proves this isn't about the land or "occupation", and then they literally attempted it then I agree to war because us Jews need to and should defend ourselves. Israel has never been the problem, Hamas was always the problem and they need to be destroyed and once they are we may finally get somewhere with this conflict.

Also bringing this antisemitic attack up, earlier in the year I decided to leave Twitter, after Elon Musk and other antisemites attacked and threatened to take down the ADL which is one of the many organizations which protects us Jews, and I decided to use (Instagram) Threads, which came out this year, instead so its a good thing I left Twitter months before October.

I never thought I would be saying this but one good thing that came out of what happened to me in 2012 was the fact that I moved to more of an isolated place because wow the antisemitism massively increased during October, it got really fucking bad here in the UK and globally overall, to the point where, and I'm quoting a Jewish Instagram account, "October 2023 [really] is May 2021 on steroids [for us Jews]"; Luckily my friend takes me to work and my work is also in an isolated place so I only have to go through the city a little bit. People really are the same as they were before and during WW2.

2024

My sister had me and my fiance, Lloyd, do a DNA test and as expected the results were what we were expecting. I bring this up because I have posted them publicly and I thought I may as well mention this but as it shows, yes Lloyd is a black Israeli Jew whilst I am a white Ashkenazi Jew so yes we are both Jewish and he is black and from Israel.

After watching the anime "Sousou no Frieren" the ending "Anytime Anywhere" became my new favorite song. The anime itself became one of my favorite anime.

In 2024 me and my fiance, Lloyd, began planning our wedding which I already had a few ideas for plus we have already decided that we will be getting married at some point in summer 2025, we will have a double barreled last name, composed of the first part of my last name and his last name, and that we are having our honeymoon in Japan. But I'm (still) disappointed that he won't change his last name to something that begins with a "D" so my initials can be LSD.

After 4 years and just going on a day trip, me, my fiance and my friends finally went on a week long holiday at the end of August but I had to get my British passport renewed because I hadn't used it for 4 years and it expired two years ago which was also the same case for my Russian passport, which I found with my British passport, but I'm most likely never going to be using it again. But the week before I went on holiday I found out some fucking amazingly fucking amazing news(!)...

Pregnancy!

Personally I have wanted children since I was a child myself but due to my illness(Viral infection) (and my genetic disorder, turner syndrome, which isn't a "severe" case so it wouldn't have affected me too much especially since medication can help to get pregnant) I was not able to have children but for years I have been getting way better and my medication has worked really well in controlling my illness. Over these years, and the months leading up to this, me and my doctors were figuring out if I can get pregnant and if it would be safe. In February it was confirmed I can get pregnant and it would be safe, as long as I continue taking the medication which controls my illness, so during those months me and my fiance, Lloyd, were trying for a baby and I am now officially pregnant!

Because of this I thought that I was going to have to stop eating sea food, which is my favorite (type of) meat, so I thought I couldn't have any the week after when I was on holiday and on my birthday, which was the week after my holiday, but my mom, who is a doctor, said I can actually have sea food but only if it's cooked and I checked the NHS website and it's true! Also I remembered that my mom often had tuna and salad sandwiches when she was pregnant with me which is probably why I love tuna (and) salad (sandwiches), LOL!

2025

In February I found out my ex Gudjencio believes pedo Hamases propaganda AKA antisemitic propaganda, it's antisemitic because Hamas has literally stated there goal is to commit genocide against Jews, and what makes it funny is he said "don't hate Jews" and ironically in 2021, when we were dating, he followed and shared Jewish content exposing this exact antisemitic propaganda. This only shows he only cared about Jews when he was dating one, me, so he is an even worse person now than when he was when he abandoned me (and I don't know if I stated this before so if I haven't I'm exposing him) for an underage girl, before I broke up with him, so I wish I didn't (apparently) "save" him from doing what his daddy Hitler did. Honestly this makes me happier that I broke up with him now.

My family/the company that my family owns and that I work for decided to give me a promotion, it's pretty much the exact job they wanted me to have in the first place but they have changed it slightly so I can spend the majority of the time at home doing my work now when I end up going back to work after maternity leave. This means I get to spend the majority of my time with and looking after my baby!

The End

Of the autobiography because, other than a prolonged 1st stage of labor there were no complications and, I finally gave birth, 32 hours after labor begun, at 1:23am on the 12th of May! And if your wondering, she is 9 pounds 9 ounces and I can walk again.

I decided to give birth at home, because I couldn't move much, and my friend Shana, who has had medical training, and my mom, who is a doctor, helped me give birth in a squatting/sitting position, which is an easier position to give birth in. Also my mom recorded herself giving birth to me and all my siblings and for some reason she, and even my fiance, wanted to record me giving birth so now there is a recording, LOL!

Anyway I've mentioned this before but I decided, when I was planning on having a baby, that when I have my baby I will leave my social medias because I know I will be really busy with my baby so I obviously won't be active much at all but I have created a separate Instagram account just for irl friends and family who I can only communicate with through meta. So unfortunately this is my goodbye post but I will probably come back every now and then to talk to some friends.

Because of this I will archive my research/wiki on the internet archive! So look out for it when it goes up.

Anyway I enjoyed writing and creating my blogs which were just a compilation of all my posts on my social medias, even though no one really reads the blogs but that doesn't really bother me since this website was just a diary for the random stuff I did, along with updates on my research, also talking about that, I will update my autobiography every now and then but since my life will be busy there won't be much to add but I will add them below as bullet points:

- July 2025: Me and Lloyd got married in July 2025 and had a 1 week honeymoon in Japan!
- August 11th 2025: I thought I felt pregnant and I am again which is no surprise after what me and my husband did a fucking lot of in Japan, LOL! I wouldn't have noticed if I didn't feel it/the symptoms because my bodies chemistry still isn't back to normal after my previous pregnancy.
- October 17th 2025: Twins are very common in my family so my friend joked about me being pregnant with twins and… They fucking jinxed it, LOL! I found out I am pregnant with twins.
- October 25th 2025: I am still doing some editing to my wiki/research and, I think, I am nearly done so I'm hoping to upload the archive of my research to the internet archive soon in the next few months but one of the things I wanted to go over to finish my research was Anthony Canosas book(s) "The spiral in nature" which I still haven't finished reading, I think I got up to part 3 a few years ago, anyway I uploaded them to the internet archive and looked through them shortly and he used an antisemitic source in his book(s) but honestly I'm not surprised about this because from what I saw in 2021 Anthony Canosa posted some antisemitic memes and around that time we pretty much stopped talking. It's truly a disappointment but not a surprise since a lot of people are antisemitic in our community.
- December 11th 2025: I found out the gender of the twins! One is a boy and the other is a girl!
- February 2026: I created two Opera GX mod themes, both of them are two of my favorite characters from Yuki Yuna is a Hero, Sonoko Nogi and Mimori Tougou!
- February 27th 2026: As of today I have finished archiving my research and have therefore finished my personal research project and as I said I would, I uploaded it to the internet archive. I will look over the wiki but since I've finished my research I won't be doing any more updates to the wiki, other than updating the "Hidden in plain sight: Spiritualism in anime" discussion post which I intend to only update because I watch anime and come across anime with lots of spiritualism. I currently have a list of anime that I intend to add to that discussion post. Anyway the archive can be viewed here on my internet archive account.
- To be continued!

And finally I do want to thank everyone who I have ever communicated with, all of you (or at least most of you) are amazing and I enjoyed being with all of you so I all hope you continue to be amazing and I hope you all have amazing lives! I love you all, thank you and goodbye!

So we have reached current times.